Langford-Taylor.

An unusually pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Taylor on West Main street, the contracting parties being Miss Lula Taylor and Mr. Blake Langford. Rev. B. J. Russell officiated. The large double parlors were prettily decorated with ferns and other greenery. An altar was arranged at one end of room where the ceremony took place. Suspended from the ceiling was a wedding bell from which white satin ribbons were draped. White canvas was stretched in the aisles. While the guests assembled a delightful musical program was rendered. Miss Alma Allison presided at the piano. Vocal selections were given by Mrs. William Jarratt, Miss Rachel Allison and Henry Carlton. Mrs. Crowder Chapman accompanied on the violin. At the strains of the familiar wedding march the bridal party entered as follows: Masters Isaac Henry Read and Carl Mann as pages; Misses Susie Bell Langford, Sadie Powell and Julia Beacken Taylor, dressed in pink, yellow and blue crepe de chine and carrying Killarney roses served as bridesmaids; Little Mamie Katherine Walker, in a dainty frock of blue carried the ring. The bride entered with her uncle, Mr. Jim Taylor, who gave her away. She wore a stylish tailored suit of brown with hat in harmony and carried a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies. Mr. Langford was attended by Mr. Joe Coppedge. After the ceremony congratulations were showered upon the happy couple before they left on the evening train for a short bridal trip. The guests were served cream and cake while viewing the handsome array of bride presents. Mrs. Langford is one of Brooksville's most attractive young ladies, being the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Taylor. The out of town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. William Jarratt, Memphis; Mrs. A. F. Taylor, Mr. Jim Taylor, Dyersburg; Mrs. Windrow, Miss Mary Virginia Windrow, Misses Kathleen and Helen Givens, Ripley; William Bullock, Dyersburg; Miss Julia Beacken Taylor, Dyersburg; Mr. Utley of Ripley; Mrs. Tom Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bond, Jackson; Mrs. L. H. Read of Fulton, Ky.; Mr. Charlie Langford of Henning; Miss Evelyn Burfield of Henning; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Allman of Oryssa.

Bride-elect Complimented.

Mrs. T. O. Bond and daughters, Mrs. Crowder Chapman, Misses Emma, Sally and Georgia Bond, entertained on Monday afternoon, complimenting Miss Lula Taylor, a popular bride-elect of this week. The house was artistically decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves in their varied tints, ferns and chrysanthemums. The honoree, upon arriving, was asked into the library and seated in a chair covered with white canvas and decorated with autumn leaves. At the Halloween season this chair is supposed to be inhabited by fairies who have the power to bestow upon the occupant happiness and health during the coming year. Seated in the chair, the honoree was blindfolded and as the guests arrived she was to feel their faces and guess who they were. For every incorrect guess she was to forfeit a penny. These pennies were donated by the hostess to the bazaar shower which was being held at the same hour at the home of Mrs. Henry Dupree and Mrs. Albert Carlton. Each meat was given a red autumn leaf or a tiny yellow pumpkin on which was written the question: "What is marriage?" Miss Taylor answering that "Marriage is an institution for the blind." was awarded a prize, a luscious yellow pumpkin. The refreshments were unusually attractive and consisted of fruit salad served in oranges, olives, crackers and hot chocolate. A miscellaneous shower of fancy articles was placed in a large basket and decorated as a pumpkin. This was brought in by two small ghosts and placed at the feet of the bride to be. These dainty articles were unwrapped for inspection and in a gracious speech Miss Taylor told of her appreciation for each gift and for the honor conferred upon her by the hostess.

Forrest Chapter, U. D. C.

Mrs. A. G. Howell entertained Forrest Chapter, U. D. C, last Friday afternoon. The president occupied the chair and presided at the meeting. The literary program was an interesting one. A special feature was a song by John Young. Miss Murchison gave an interesting reading. Mrs. Bettie McKel also read an interesting selection, and Mrs. W. A. Bates gave a vocal selection. The hostess served a delicious salad course. The November meeting will be with Mrs. John Bomer.

Shower for Bride-elect.

Miss Lula Taylor, an attractive bride of this month was complimented on Saturday afternoon with a kitchen shower given by Misses Nettie and Alma Allison at their home west of town. Autumn leaves were used as an effective decoration, and the collection of useful gifts consisted of articles which are much prized by young housekeepers. Delightful refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.
